IF YOU HAVE YOUTUBERS ON YOUR SITE LET ME KNOW

Following changes to the insurance policy all sites with a pond on any plot must display a warning sign plus any plot with a pond on it must display another warning sign.

Parents who have children on their plots are responsible for them and this is covered in the site rules but these signs are apparently required to ensure that should a trespasser stray into a pond there is no liability.

(Should anybody need clarification of the legal liability of sites and individuals they should contact secretary@bdacallotments.co.uk for more details.)

The Royal Horticultural Society
Birmingham Allotment Visit
June 21 - 23rd 2024

The RHS Visit 22nd June

On the evening of Saturday 22nd June, the Royal Horticultural Society are coming to Moor Green to hold a Question and Answer session in the Clubhouse. So if you would like to meet face-to-face some of the leading lights in horticulture, this is your opportunity to quiz them about your plans, achievements and failures!

The RHS Fruit, Veg & Herb Committee group visiting us (David Allison, Jim Arbury, Vicki Cooke, Nick Dunn, Gerry Edwards and Barry Newman) all have different areas of expertise and experience. For a start, three have allotments themselves. All of them have expertise in growing fruit, vegetables and herbs. Three are specialists in growing and advising on fruit, two are vegetable specialists who have also chaired the National Vegetable Society. Two particularly advise on organic methods, two are exhibition gardeners, two are exhibition judges — one also being a Britain in Bloom judge - one is an apple expert and another is a beekeeper!

The panel session will be on from 5.30 - 7.00 pm in the Clubhouse. The Bar will be open until 8.00 - being an audience member is thirsty work. Tea and coffee will also be available before the event.

We hope this is going to be a great evening. People from other sites will also be coming and seats may be at a premium.

(from  Moor Green in May)

DETAILS OF THE TWO OTHER Q&A EVENTS AND WILL BE MAILED TO SECRETARIES WHEN FINALISED AND SHOWN ON OUR FACEBOOK PAGE.
